From Northshore to Cooperstown — & back

Hall of Famer Helton honored with FB naming, recalls Farragut youth ball days

ALAN SLOAN editor@farragutpress.com

CONCORD — Todd Helton's dominance as a youth on the Northshore Fields of Farragut Baseball, Inc. in the 1980s was remembered, by the Cooperstown Hall of Famer himself, with family yawns and a bodily function emergency.

"When we moved back here 11 years ago, we lived right down there in Choto. Every time we passed these fields, I would say to my daughters, 'guess who went deep on that field right there?' It became a running joke," Helton said during his brief address to a gathering of FB, Inc. and Knox County Parks & Recreation officials, family and many fans clad in either a replica of Helton's Colorado Rockies No. 17 jersey or UT Vols orange while alongside those very fields Friday afternoon, Oct. 25.

Those fields are now named in his honor.

Celebrating Todd Helton, a Baseball Hall of Famer and ex-UT Vols star in whose name Farragut Baseball, Inc.'s field complex (11705 Northshore Drive) is now named, Todd Helton Baseball Complex was celebrated Friday afternoon, Oct. 25, in honor of the ex-Colorado Rockies star first baseman (above, right side in white). Alongside, from left, are Sara Branson, vice president, FB, Inc.; Steven Branson, president, FB., Inc.; and board members Neil Owens and Joe Nenninger. (Left side) From left are FB, Inc. board member Shawn Bennett; Jeff Jansen, vice president of operations, FB, Inc.; and board members Blake Disher and Meghan Turvey. (Right) Helton is in position to autograph the back of Doug Barnes' replica Rockies No. 17 Helton jersey. A young Helton honed his skills on these fields while in Farragut schools from kindergarten through seventh grade.

The occasion was unveiling the sign declaring the fields as Todd Helton Baseball Complex in honor of the Rockies' allleader in several career offensive marks while considered by most that organization's greatest player of all time.

As for bodily functions, Helton explained that after the ceremony, speaking to media between autograph sessions and chats with old friends.

Pointing to Field 1 (the sign is located between Fields 1 and 2), he said, "I was playing

It's all in the details: MBLP pickleball plans have options touted

TAMMY CHEEK

Design plans for the Town's pickleball court complex at Mayor Bob Leonard Park is heading back to the drawing board after Farragut Board of Mayor and Aldermen, in a workshop before its regular meeting Thursday, Oct. 24, voiced their "frustration" at the costs of the options presented.

"I suggest this goes back to the Parks and Rec (Council)," Mayor Ron Williams said.

"We're not there yet," he added. "We need to go back and sharpen our pencils."

Meanwhile, Vice Mayor Scott Meyer recommended using the option 2 with eight courts, a 25-space parking lot and be under budget by $100,000.

"It's the same capacity we have currently," he added.

Alderman David White recalled the Board sought to get "as many pickleball courts as we could afford, but somehow we got

"We tried to put too many pigs in a sack," he added. "We've gone from this option to that option to this option. I agree with Scott (Meyer)," White added. "Option 2 seems to accomplish what we wanted to accomplish in the first place — just give them as many courts as we could within the budget and everybody be satisfied. There's even some parking there ... some of these options don't have parking."

Brass Lantern subdivision resident George Ellis, during the Citizens Forum segment of the Board's regular meeting, asked

Find Admiral Farragut month

Visit Farragut is partnering with local businesses for a Find Admiral Farragut trail in November. A cutout of Admiral David Glasgow Farragut — Town namesake and the U.S. Navy's first commissioned admiral in the early 1800s — about 6 inches tall and 3 inches wide, will be placed in participating businesses and restaurants.

"Visitors and residents can pick up a 'passport' at the Farragut Community Center, 239 Jamestowne Blvd., or download and print a passport from the Visit Farragut webpage or the linktree on the Visit Farragut social media pages," a Visit Farragut Press release stated. "Eighteen locations will be listed."

When participants go to each location, they get a passport stamp recognizing Admiral Farragut has been found. If they collect 12 stamps from the 18 locations, they bring their passport to the Farragut Community Center for a prize. If they collect a stamp for each location (all 18), they bring the passport back to Community Center for an additional prize.

The trail begins Friday, Nov. 1, and runs through Saturday, Nov. 30, "and is designed as a fun way to explore Farragut, to introduce participants to new locations and to learn about places to shop and places to eat for the holiday season," the VF press release further stated. "Some of the locations on the passport include some Farragut favorite" businesses.

on that field and I had to pee real bad. The first pitch I saw, I hit it out, rounded the bases and then ran right up in the woods." Helton said. "There were no bathroom facilities down here at the time. The park had just opened."

As for helping him develop into a Major League Baseball star and immortalization in Cooperstown, "a lot of memories were made here," the Hall of Famer said. "It's where I learned how to play the game of baseball.

"I can vividly remember coming here one Saturday morning, and it had rained the night before. I remember how defeated I felt not being able to play the game that day," he added. "It was like losing a loved one; I loved the game so much.

"A couple of these fields weren't here, but I grew up as a hitter here."

Living close by, "Me and my dad and my mom (Jerry and Martha Helton), we'd come over here and take batting practice all the time," Helton said. "It was the closest park

"So not only did I play my Little League games here, I practiced here all through those years. ... Until I got to college, basically."

Those years included Helton helping Knox Central High win the 1990 Class AAA state title.

This Hall of Famer wasn't just a two-sport athlete as a UT Vol — also a back-up quarterback who, as a starter, led Phil Fulmer's UT team to victory against Georgia in Athens in 1994 before leading the Baseball Vols to the College World Series in 1995 as a key relief pitcher/first baseman.

"My dad would take me crappie fishing out on the lake here (Fort Loudoun), and me wearing my baseball uniform," he said about fitting in both sports back-to-back.

Having his name attached to the FB, Inc. complex is not just window dressing.

"We have big plans for this place," Helton said without giving any details. "I want to make it a lot nicer just for the local kids. It could be a place where a lot of big tournaments are held.

"I'd like the facility to get in the right shape first," he added. "And that's what I plan on helping out with."

KCSOreports

• At 1 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 26, a Knox County Sheriff's Office unit was dispatched to 11220 Outlet Drive in relation to an alleged assault. Alleged victim said he was at Cotton Eyed Joe's when he was being kicked out for allegedly making inappropriate contact with an unknown female.

Alleged victim said he demanded his money be returned to him, saying "the money fell out of his hand and he attempted to kick the bill. When doing so, suspect/bouncer tackled him and pressed his legs into (alleged victim's) neck," the report stated.

Suspect/bouncer said that when "(alleged) victim was handed his money, he aggressively charged at the owner," the report also stated, before being tackled. Alleged victim was trespassed from the property.

At 3:44 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 22, a victim called Knox County Sheriff's Office East Precinct to report an identity theft, which occurred at a Longstreet Place address.

"According to the victim, between Aug. 15 and Monday, Oct. 21, person(s) unknown used her identity to open credit card accounts with Capital One and American Express," the report stated. "Victim (said) she wasn't aware of this until she started receiving the credit cards in the mail." Victim was advised to visit Identity-Theft.gov and seek Federal Trade Commission.

the Board to go with a simple design for the courts.

"We don't need a Wimbleton pickleball court off of Watt Road," he said.

However, Alderman Drew Burnette wanted to have 12 courts — but find ways to reduce the costs.

"Can we pinch (the fourth option) down to an acre?" he asked.

"I don't know that we can squeeze enough out of this option to get it down to your budget," answered David Craig, principal for landscape architecture with Ross/Fowler, P.C., and project manager on the courts project.

The workshop came about after John Ford, a Farragut pickleball player, asked for an update on the Town's designs for the pickleball courts during his comments at the Oct. 10 Board meeting.

"As you know in the initial discussions with Ross/Fowler, I asked them to design a complex at Mayor Bob Leonard Park where the rectangle grass Field 6 currently exists along Harrison Road," Parks and Recreation director Ron Oestreich said. "I requested the following perimeters: 10 courts with north/south alignment, a parking lot adjacent to the courts, moving the mustgo lights from Harrison Road to an area in between rectangle Field 5 and the pickleball complex, so a pretty simple

He said the target budget at that time was $1.45 million, based on design and current construction projections. However, the Parks and Recreation internal team asked designers to add some amenities requested by pickleball players.

As such, Oestreich presented four design options, ranging from eight courts to 12 with such amenities as shade structures, fencing between courts and seating.

With the additional amenities and courts, "Ross/Fowler presented some potential challenges" affecting the budget and design. For instance "the new two-court design with the 25-stall parking lot, exceeds 1 acre of land, which requires the Town to include storm water mitigation," Oestreich said.

"As you would guess, this significantly increases the potential cost of the complex due to either digging a retention pond or adding brick pavers to the parking lot," he added.

"Both are very similar in cost. This 12-court design with all of the amenities (Option 3) exceeds our CIP budget by $522,000."

Oestreich said Option 4 eliminates the parking lot, except for two Americans with Disabilities Act parking spots, but keeps the 12 courts.

"I would just say, very politely, that I'm very frustrated," Alderman Drew Burnette said. "We came out with some designs.

"Now, it's been changed in a big way again," he added.

"I've had the privilege to work with this group for the last few years," Alderman Drew Burnette said. "They are absolutely amazing. They only have one big problem, which is they can't stop growing."

"It's a good problem," Goodrich replied.

"It's really an amazing event to have, and to grow so rapidly," Burnette said. "And to you moms who get paid nothing out of spending all this time ... we just want to say thank you

"We love to do it," Goodrich added.

"I think it's just great to bring a community event to make Farragut feel like such a good community and small Town," Thompson said in a separate interview. "We have such a great group of moms who make it happen."

Santa's Village, taking place from 2 to 5 p.m, will be located in Mayor Ralph McGill Plaza behind Campbell Station Inn. It will feature food trucks, free crafts for children, pictures with Santa from 2 to 3:30 p.m. and multiple mini vendors.

Individuals, organizations and businesses can apply to be in the parade or a vendor in the Village at www.farragutchristmasparade.com

However, "to keep up to date is to follow us on Facebook" by going to "Farragut Christmas Parade & Santa's Villlage," Thompson said.

Cost for a vendor spot is $50 and $25 to be in the parade. She noted there are limited vendor and parade participant spots.

They are shooting for 35 parade entries and 25 vendors.

At Knox Stretch, owner/fascial stretch therapist Rachel Defendorf provides fascial tissue stretching.

"Long story short, you lay on the table and I do all the work," she said and laughed. "Fascia is like cobwebs all over the body." Fascia is the thin casing of connective tissue surrounding and holding every organ, blood vessel, bone, nerve fiber and muscle in place, according to the John Hopkins Medicine website. "So when you can lay on a table and relax, and I do all the work, your body can respond better than if you were to do it on your own," she said. "It sounds like you can do it on your own, but your body is fighting against itself when you're doing it yourself, and with the fascia and getting the traction in there ... you can't pull on your own leg. "I can do that, and your body can relax with you just laying on the table," Defendorf added.

And, no, the stretching does not hurt.

"It's very relaxing," she added. "I've had a lot of people fall Defendorf said there are a lot of benefits to fascial stretching. "Everybody's different, so it might mean less pain," she said. "It might mean more sleep. It might mean that you can bend over and tie your shoe." And with sports, she said the therapy could help an athlete perform better, faster.

"It kind of depends on what's going on in your body, what you need," Defendorf said. "I have a lot of golfers. They hit the ball further. Velocity — speed — can be faster.

A Pink-Out, Homecoming, playoff-earning success: Farragut 34 Hardin Valley 21

editor@farragutpress.com

Defense set the first-half tone for a Farragut team that turned a Pink-Out, Homecoming Night into a playoff guarantee night in FHS's Eddie Courtney Stadium/on Bill Clabo Field Friday night, Oct. 25.

Senior defensive back Kent Carbaugh's recovery of a fumble, after a failed Hardin Valley Academy fake punt, gave Farragut a short field and a quick touchdown against the Hawks (1-8, 0-4). The Ads "wildcat" quarterback, junior Noah Haag, scored from 5 yards.

Up 10-0 late in the first half, Connor Parris' nice grab of an interception allowed the FHS junior linebacker to ramble 39 yards for a 17-0 Admirals lead that would hold up. Despite a somewhat awakened Hardin Valley offense after halftime, Farragut locked up a Division I-6A playoff berth — while winning its fourth straight game after an 0-5 start — 34-21.

"A tough-minded group, coming from where we started the year to where we are now," Admirals skipper Geoff Courtney said.

After the Hawks used a muffed punt to break the scoreboard early in the third quarter, needing just eight yards but having to get a fourth-down, 1-yard TD run from Kaden Cutcher for the first HVA points. It was 17-7.

But sophomore kick returner/receiver Ethan Farhat brought back the ensuing kickoff 45 yards to midfield, then hauled in a 48-yard touchdown pass (six catches, 111 vards) from sophomore quarterback Corbin Hobson (21 of 29 passing for 216 yards).

The Hawks would answer again, cutting the margin to 24-14. "I feel like our team showed some resiliency," HVA head coach Tyler Wynn said.

Back came the Admirals, as senior running back Randon Miller raced 38 yards for a touchdown — his third of 2024 despite limited carries. It was 31-14.

In addition to a pair of field goals, junior kicker Ryan McCue remained perfect both in extra points and field goal attempts for the season.

Back came HVA, driving 60 yards and scoring on sophomore quarterback Dylan Umansky's 1-yard sneak midway into the fourth quarter.

The Hawks' last-ditch effort to rally was crushed by an Landon Collins' interception inside the HVA 25 in the game's final three minutes. McCue's 36-yard field goal with less that one minute to play closed the scoring. He also nailed a 22-yarder in the first half.

After hosting state power and 2-6A region foe Maryville Thursday, Oct. 31, the Admirals — likely the No. 4 playoff seed from 2-6A — will travel to the winner of Friday's Kingport Dobyns-Bennett (7-2) at Johnson City Science Hill (8-1) 1-6A region title game.

Freaky Friday Fright Nite

Thousands of children, parents and grandparents lined up to form the route along Mayor Bob Leonard Park, where Town of Farragut hosted its annual Freaky Friday Fright Nite Oct. 25.

Children, donned in their favorite character costumes — from Mario to Superman and princesses — stopped at booths to get candy, play games or walk through the maze during the event.

Meanwhile, some adults got into the fun dressed as Wizard of Oz characters, Mario Brothers, vampires or witches — and even the Michelin Man.

A big 'Z' in 'Grammy's Kooky Spooky'

Time to bond, scare, impress with Zacharys' 9th Halloween display, dinner

editor@farragutpress.com

With her creative juices ever-flowing, Pam Zachary wanted to begin an annual family event that was fun — with a few special touches.

The result was "Grammy's Kooky Spooky Dinner" to celebrate the fun that comes with Halloween.

Ninth Annual Grammy's Kooky Spooky Dinner 2024 has been much more than a dinner, being the highlight of a roughly 10-day celebration leading up to Oct. 31, which is centered — every year — at the home of Pam and her husband, Richard Zachary, in Park Place subdivision behind Farragut Town Hall.

As for the inspiration to start this in 2016, "It's a fun time of year. It's kooky, it's spooky and the grandkids were little. So I thought, 'you know what? We're going to start a tradition," Pam recalled.

"Traditions are a big deal to me," she added. "And I wanted a tradition for them when my husband and I are gone, when they have their own families and memories.

"It's so important for us to make memories with our family, and that's what this is all about. ... And Halloween, It's a big deal for the kids."

Pam's and Richard's three children are sons, Jason and Justin, plus daughter, Jordan. They have six grandchildren.

The dinner, which comes the Saturday before Hallow-

"There's another requirement for coming: you cannot share with any family member what you're going to be dressed as," Pam added.

Always new touches And every year "it's gotten bigger and bigger and bigger," Pam said. "And every year I think, 'what can I do next year to out-do what I did this year?'

And so, she came up with "The Graveyard" next to the couple's pergola, for 2024. "The first time I've ever done this." And it lights up at night.

In fact, "it has gotten crazy, some of the stuff that we come up with," Pam added. "They have gotten very creative."

For example, "One of my first cookie dishes was an appetizer where you get a baby diaper and you put guacamole in the middle of the baby dia-

Having lived at their Park Place home for 17 years, Pam starts her annual Kooky Spooky planning roughly a week-and-a-half before Halloween.

The one Grammy's Kooky Spooky Dinner celebration that wasn't at Pam and Richard's Park Place home came in 2022.

Helene help headliners include Farragut Lions filling 'six trucks'

Farragut Lions Club — in collaboration with Pinnacle at Turkey Creek, City Wide Solutions and House Hassan Hardware Store — recently organized a successful donation drive to support communities in the Tri-Cities region affected by Hurricane Helene. "For two weeks a drop zone was set up at Regal (Pinnacle Stadium 18 IMax & RPX, 11240 Parkside Drive), where residents generously donated essential items for those in need," a FLC press release stated. "The effort resulted in six trucks filled with supplies ... providing much-needed relief to families as they begin the recovery process. In addition to this support, "the Farragut Lions Club is proud to partner with PetSafe, a local petcare leader, to distribute cat litter to shelters and affected regions. We are incredibly grateful for the overwhelming support from our community and our partners," said Ashley Lynch, FLC member (third from right beside FLC president Tyler Hunsaker, both in Lions vests among a host of FLC contributors also including Tom Nitz, second from left). "... The success of this drive would not have been possible without the dedication of Pinnacle at Turkey Creek, City Wide Solutions, House Hassan Hardware Store and the many residents who donated. It is heartwarming to see our community come together in times of need." To get involved in future initiatives, follow Farragut Lions on social media.

"We'll have a list of items that we can make available to individuals, and they can go out and purchase items on that list, bring them in and drop them off," he added.

Still a great run for Lady Dawgs; FHS vball 4th at state

Controversial pk ruling against BHS helps Houston win state

CHATTANOOGA — Streaks are made to be broken and all good things come to an end.

Bearden High School's girls soccer team made a sixth consecutive trip to the TSSAA Class AAA State Soccer Tournament. The Lady Bulldogs were in search of an unprecedented fourth straight state title with Germantown Houston standing in the way.

Bearden, however, fell in heartbreaking fashion in a penalty kicks shootout Saturday, Oct. 26, at Boyd Buchanan's David L. Boyd Field.

Hallie Bibee tied the match 1-1 in the 25th minute after charging Houston goalkeeper Laila McNamee couldn't control the ball, giving Bibee an open 15 yard shot. Jayla Blue assisted.

The match remained tied 1-1 after 80 minutes of regulation play and 20 minutes of overtime. The Lady Mustangs prevailed in the shootout 4-2 — but the victory didn't come without controversy.

Bearden senior goalkeeper Drew Tolley appeared to stop a shot by Houston's Hallie Mc-Bride in the third round of PK's. Tolley, however, was called for a foul on the shot and McBride buried the subsequent retake.

The assistant referee called Tolley for stepping in front of the goal-line to block McBride's shot. Lady Bulldogs head coach Ryan Radcliffe, who has coached soccer at BHS for more than a decade, said he's never seen the call made in a shootout.

"I'll have to watch it," Radcliffe said about viewing a replay. "I think Drew is pretty smart and knows as a goalie kind of what she has, and from my understanding of the rule you just have to have one foot on the line. And it looked like to me she took a step forward and made the save. But (the official) said that both feet were on the line.'

Hallie Bibee is congratulated by Bearden's Cali Motley (16) and Jayla Blue after scoring Bearden's regulation goal in the 25th minute of the Division I-AAA state title match versus Houston in Chattanooga Saturday, Oct. 26. The Lady Mustangs won state on penalty kicks 4-2.

McBride's second shot gave Houston (22-0-0) the deciding margin as McNamee, who scored in the shootout, blocked two of BHS's attempts.

During the regular season, Houston shut out the Lady Bulldogs (20-2-1), 3-0, handing Bearden its first loss since 2020.

'It was going to be a battle. It was going to be a war," said Houston head coach David Wolff, who won his 15th state title with the Mustangs and Lady Mustangs yet lost in state title matches to BHS in 2021 and 2022. "I told Ryan, this is the best non-region rivalry in the state."

1st Scoreboard victory for Dawgs, FHS 3rd

They cut it close on the road in Hamblen County, but Bearden's 20-17 two-overtime win against Morristown West Friday night, Oct. 25, marks a first in the 17th season of farragutpress' PureMagic How the West Was Won Contest for best regular season record.

The Dawgs, improving to 6-3 on the season after squeezing by the Trojans (3-5). earn their first PM-HWWW honor, and will receive the Bronze Stetson Hat Traveling Trophy and a $500 check from farragutpress (probably during the program's banquet). Coupled with Webb School of Knoxville's 49-7 home loss to Division II-AA state power Boyd-Buchanan (9-0, 6-0), Bearden takes a 1.5-game lead versus the Spartans (4-4) after Week 10 of the season (just one week left, and Webb plays only nine regular-season games).

Don Mahoney's Big Green, however, looks to secure a playoff spot (3-3 in Division II-AA East Region) when hosting struggling region foe Lakeway Christian Academy (1-8, 0-6) Friday, Nov. 1. Opening kickoff is 7 p.m.

Elsewhere, Farragut used its defense to build a three-score lead at halftime on Homecoming Night versus rival Hardin Valley Academy (1-8, 0-4) Friday, then held off an awakened Hawks offense in the second half.

Make it four straight wins for rookie head coach Geoff Courtney and his Admirals, 34-21, in the stadium named for his father, Eddie Courtney Stadium (Bill Clabo Field).

Improving to 4-5 overall, 2-2 in Region 2-6A, Farragut secures a Division I-6A playoff berth as the likely No. 4 seed, and will almost certainly travel to either Kingsport Dobyns-Bennett (where the Ads rallied from a 14-0 deficit only to lose 20-17 in Week 1) or to Johnson City Science Hill (8-1, 4-0) Friday night, Nov. 8, in playoff round one, as those two powerful Region 1-6A teams (KDB 7-2, 4-0) square off at SHHS this Friday to determine the 1-6A champion.

The slide for Knoxville Catholic continues as the Irish play in the rugged Division II-AAA East Region. The Green and Gold traveled to state power McCallie (7-2, 3-1) and fell to the Blue Tornado 38-7.

The lone Irish touchdown came early in the third quarter on a 74-yard touchdown pass from senior quarterback Jayden Neal to junior wide receiver Tyreek

Though out of playoff contention, Christian Academy of Knoxville (3-6, 2-4) hits the road and came away with a tight Division II-AA East Region win at Notre Dame, 21-14, last Friday.

Defensively, senior linebacker Maddox Mozingo had 18 total tackles (four solo and 12 assisted with one sack and one tackle-for-loss). Owen Fulford added 13 total stops while Ward Sterchi contributed 10.

Offensively, freshman quarterback Seaton Moffett completed 17 of 26 passes for 150 yards and two touchdowns. Moffett also ran the ball 11 times for 82 yards and one TD. Sterchi, with six catches for 56 yards, had a scoring reception, as did Will Kelley (three catches for 38 yards).

Week 11

The final week of the TSSAA football regular season also finds (in addition to Webb listed above) Bearden, 3-1 in region while assured of a first-round playoff home game, hosting 2-6A foe Bradley Central (3-6, 1-3). Opening kickoff for all Friday games is 7 p.m. unless otherwise noted.

Farragut finishes the regular season with a gigantic task on Halloween Night, Thursday, Oct. 31: the Admirals host Class 6A power and region foe Maryville (8-1, 4-0), as the Red Rebels likely will be in a bad mood for two reasons: losing last week at home to rival (and Division 1-3A mega-power) Alcoa 24-17, for one.

Moreover, the visitors will be reminded of Farragut's 10-7 last-second victory at MHS to end the 2023 Admirals season on a super-high note.

Opening kickoff is right around 7 p.m.

As with Bearden and Farragut, Hardin Valley also will host Senior Night festivities, as the Hawks welcome Cleveland (6-3, 2-2) to HVA.

Knoxville Catholic also finishes at home, but will welcome yet another East Region powerhouse: Defending state champ and unbeaten Baylor (9-0, 4-0) visits Blaine Stadium. Opening kickoff is 7:30 p.m., Friday.

Once again heading south to Chattanooga, CAK will close its 2024 season with a trip to Silverdale Baptist Academy (7-2, 5-1).
