FARRAGUT, TENNESSEE

Making it all official: new start at 'The Hall'

After roughly 16 months, Town of Farragut has cut the ribbon on its newly renovated Town Hall an hour before the Board of Mayor and Aldermen met there Thursday, April 24.

State, Knox County and Town dignitaries were on hand to celebrate the ribboncutting event.

"The Board of Mayor and Aldermen wants to thank you for joining us," Mayor Ron Williams said. "We think this beautiful building reflects our wonderful community.

"Improvements can be seen everywhere you look," he added. "For example, the Knox County Clerk's and Trustee's Office is now on the first floor. This is where most folks are headed when they come to Town Hall, so it just makes sense for it to be easy to ac-

In addition, "If you stick around for the Board meeting, you'll see our new and improved Board Room," Williams said. "The sound and lighting have been updated, Shop Farragut/Farragut Business Alliance is hoping to bring back Taste of Farragut and continue with its current services.

However, to do so more effectively, they asked Farragut Board of Mayor and Aldermen for more funding during the Mayor's Report segment of the Board's meeting Thursday, April 24. The Board heard from SF/FBA leadership without taking action on the matter — or even discussing what was presented to them.

Town's first Kid Try-Athlon

Farragut Parks & Recreation will host the Town's first Farragut's Kid Try-Athlon, from 8 to 10 a.m., Saturday, June 7, in McFee Park.

"This high-energy, non-competitive event invites children ages 3 (through) 6 and 7 (through) 10 to bike, run and splash their way to the finish line in a fun and safe environment designed just for them," a Town press release stated.

"Farragut's Kid Try-Athlon introduces young participants to the excitement of a triathlon, minus the swimming. Instead, children will navigate water obstacles on their way to a photo finish," the release further stated. "The event focuses on participation and enjoyment rather than competition."

Event distances vary by age group: Bike Ride: ½ mile (ages 3 through 6); 1 mile (ages 7 through 10). Run/Walk: 1/4 mile (ages 3 through 6); 1/2 mile (ages 7 through 10).

Children in the 3-to-6 age group must be accompanied by a parent or guardian on the course.

Registration fee is $20 per participant (includes T-shirt and medal for each child). Pre-registration is required. Deadline to register is Friday, May 23. Families can register online at townoffarragut.org/register.

Seeking definitions on home businesses comes before FMPC

tcheek@farragutpress.com

What constitutes a home business, and what is allowed to happen, left Farragut Municipal Planning Commissioners talking but taking no action during its meeting Thursday, April 17.

"There's a lot to unpack here," Commissioner Noah Myers

While applauding the staff's and working committees' efforts on the proposed ordinance, Commissioner Jon Greene observed, "My issues are people trying to comply with it and the Town trying to enforce it. ... it gets pretty complicated."

The Town staff initiated a discussion on home occupations during an Oct. 17, 2024, Planning Commission meeting in response to growing permitting issues and citizen complaints regarding the operation and conduct of home businesses — what FMPC members referred to as "home occupations" — in residential neighborhoods, according to assistant Community Development director Bart Hose.

"While the Town's zoning ordinance does address 'customary home occupations (attached)', the permitting issues and citizen complaints raised questions regarding the application of the current regulations to the range of possible home occupations and the Town's intent and preferences for regulating such uses,"

In addition, he said the Town also was in the process of revamping and publicizing its Business Privilege License process, "which was likely to increase the number of applications for home occupation permits."

During the October 2024 meeting, the Planning Commission asked staff to develop potential zoning amendments to better address the issue, which included the use of a five-member citizen working group to provide input on the issue and potential amendments.

Hose presented their findings and recommendations on Thursday, one idea of which included "allowing low-impact, predominantly office activity-based home occupations, as 'by right' uses that would not require a formal permit and broadening the list of business uses that can be considered as home occupations," Hose said.

Several Commissioners said they would be in favor of the "as by right" conditions.

"A working draft of a zoning amendment has been developed to reflect these goals," Hose said. "At this point, the Town staff thought it would be appropriate to update the Planning Commission on the project and ask for its input on both the overall approach and several issues that need to be resolved before a final draft is presented for consideration.

"The principal zoning issue with home occupations involves mitigating and balancing potential impacts on the residential character of a neighborhood," he added.

• At 8:29 p.m., Tuesday, April 22, Knox County Sheriff's Office units were responding to 1116 Harvey Road (Rocky Top Market) in reference to two people passed out in a Honda Accord.

Prior to officers arrival, E-911 dispatch notified officers that when AMR medical services arrived on scene, the vehicle drove off. One officer located the vehicle and conducted a traffic stop along Rockwell Farm Lane.

While the officer was speaking with the occupants of the vehicle, arrestee/driver and arrestee/passenger, the other officer "deployed K9 Manny for a free air sniff around the listed vehicle and K9 Manny alerted," the report stated.

"A search of the vehicle revealed .25 grams of cocaine in a brown bag under the passenger seat and 3.0 grams of marijuana in the glove compartment," the report further stated. "The search also revealed a large quantity of aluminum foil with burnt cocaine residue, a marijuana pipe and cut straws with cocaine residue.

After both subjects were read the Miranda Warning they agreed to further speak with officers. One suspect admitted the cocaine and the cocaine paraphernalia was hers, and male suspect admitted the marijuana was his. Both subjects also advised officers they were recently arrested in Loudon County for the same thing.

Currently, the funding Shop Farragut receives from the Board annually is $55,000, Shop Farragut president Candace Viox reported.

She said of that, $35,000 goes toward supporting infrastructure, executive director Steve Krempasky's work with businesses, the sign program, marketing partnership with farragutpress, website managment, the Shop Farragut campaign with $2,500 gift cards purchased and the Farragut Business Directory.

Viox said $10,000 of the $55,000 goes toward sponsoring Dog Daze, while another $10,000 goes toward sponsoring Harvest Fest.

"We appreciate the Town so much," she added. "Your support of our businesses cannot be denied."

Viox asked the Board to return to the $70,000 annual amount the elected officials previously funded between 2016 and 2023 so it could provide more and keep up with rising costs, explaining the cost of paying for infrastructure has "dramatically increased.

"Restrooms, feature stage and tents have increased by 100 percent," she added in asking for the addition $10,000, which would be $65,000.

The additional $5,000 would fund the Health & Wellness Expo, which has been taking place since 2019.

"The number of health and wellness businesses in our Town has increased," Viox said. "We would appreciate the Town's sponsorship of this event. We would appreciate using our Farragut Community Center to continue being the location for this event during the winter."

On the same vein, she asked the Board to consider allowing Shop Farragut to bring back Taste of Farragut.

"The Taste of Turkey Creek completed its final event in 2024," Viox said. "The Town of Farragut used to host a similar event called the Taste of Farragut, compete with local restaurants competing for the best food trophy.

"Its last year was 2019," she added. "We have a bold idea and would like you to consider reconstituting The Taste of Farragut.

"We will coordinate the event, solicit the business participation, negotiate the location and procure an alcohol sponsor and food sponsor to donate so our restaurants can afford the participation. We will rename it Shop Farragut Food & Wine Festival."

As for a date, "We can host this event in early May 2026,' Viox said.

To hold the event, she asked for a $15,000 grant from the Town, which is in addition to the $70,000 request.

While SF/FBA is led by Krempasky, the SF/FBA board, established in 2010, consists of 11 volunteers who are members of the Town's business community.

and the cameras that record our livestream are top of the line."

"What you can't see is the new configuration of the staff office space upstairs," he added. "Visitors now have one point of entry where they can ask questions or meet with staff.

Looking back, "What was designed 34 years ago was built for what was needed at the moment," Williams said. "What you see today will carry us well into the future as our Town builds out. Our goal is efficiency for the community as well as Town staff.

"Today, I'd like to thank Cope Architecture and Wright Contracting for their fine work, and project manager Bud McKelvey, who oversaw this monumental project," the mayor added. "Next would be the input from our staff members, who put in many hours of work to make this dream a reality.

"I will also have to mention our Town administrator David Smoak, as well as our past and present Board of Mayor and Aldermen for staying the course with the ongoing vision started 45 years ago."

In closing, "I think we all can be very proud of the results that you see around you," Williams said.

Reader calls for support lettertotheeditor of Credit for Caring Act

Caring for a loved one with dementia can be emotionally and financially challenging.

In 2024, over 369,000 Alzheimer's caregivers in Tennessee provided 499 million hours of unpaid care, worth nearly $7.8 billion.

As someone who cared for my mother with Alzheimer's living in Farragut, I understand the significant impact of this disease. Her annual costs, including memory care and other related expenses, exceeded $100,000. Many caregivers have an income of $50,000 or less and often do not qualify for financial assistance.

High care costs force many to stop working to provide full-time care, worsening their financial strain. The stress from these circumstances can destroy a family.

The bipartisan Credit for Caring Act offers some relief for caregiving expenses like home care aides, adult day services, home modifications, respite care and other supports. This bill proposes a new, non-refundable federal tax credit of up to $5,000 for eligible family caregivers, which can help families dealing with dementia.

As the owner of Dementia Care Solutions of East Tennessee, I frequently speak with families that would greatly benefit from this bill. Please help support dementia caregivers by encouraging (U.S. Rep.) Tim Burchett (R-2nd District) to back the Credit for Caring Act.

For 25 years, Rather & Kittrell Private Wealth & Retirement Plan Advisory's team, 11905 Kingston Pike in Farragut, has been helping their clients not only weather financial storms — but also thrive.

The co-founders and principals, Lytle Rather and Chris Kittrell, have seen their specific type of financial industry grow, and they have witnessed major financial events that have challenged the country's financial situations in the past quarter century.

"Our world, which is in the registry investment advisory world, used to be it was large banks and large brokerage firms," Kittrell said. "But what we have seen, especially in the last 15 years, is that our type of business, the growth of that segment of our business in the country, where people are working with independent RIAs that are acting as a fiduciary (a trustee) is a key, key thing (for R&K's business)."

Rather explained a fiduciary works exclusively for the benefit of his or her client.

"Everything we do has to be in their best interest," he said. "And, you are legally bound," Kittrell added.

Reflecting, "we have seen is a real growth in the RIA space," where "the consumer is looking for a fiduciary," Rather said. "That has fueled the growth."

"People are looking for a team approach," Kittrell said.

Additionally, they have had to help their clients weather such unsettling storms as Sept. 11, 2001, the housing market crash of 2008-2009 and COVID-19.

Rather & Kittrell During those times, Kittrell fi- said people were wondering ast "what's going to happen to the world, to the country.

"People were very scared and uncertain," he added. "People were looking for advice. That's when we earn our keep, is we're showing up for our clients when there's that uncertainty and that fear. Moments like that are when we really solidify relationships."

The firm's office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Friday. For more about Rather & Kittrell, visit rkcapital.com or call 865-218-8400.

"The next year was Sept. 11, (2001), so we had a few events as we started that were quite interesting," he added.

Kittrell grew up in the small town of Oakdale in Morgan County, while Rather grew up in Farragut. While Kittrell moved away to work in the investment banking field, Rather said he "went to Farragut High School, went to UT, started in the business of January 1988, became a (Certified Financial Planner) in 1990" and was working for a local firm."

When Kittrell returned to the area in 1995, he joined the firm in which Rather was working. "We hit it off," Rather said. "We seemed to have similar values. I think that carried over when we started (the joint business).

"We just wanted to help people make good decisions with their money and be good stewards of their resources," the partner added about intent.

The seed to start a business together was sown when "we just sort of recognized that we just wanted to do wealth management and retirement plans, 401Ks," Kittrell said. "We just decided that we thought we could do it and stay focused on that and do it well, and we wanted to do it together."

"We were fortunate enough to have opportunities to help people, develop relationships,

About 500 turned out to find out more about local businesses during Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce's Business EXPO, which occurred in Rothchild Catering & Conference Center, 8807 Kingston Pike, Wednesday, March 23.

"Great day at the Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce Business Expo 2025," a Josh Hemphill State Farm-Powell representative said. "We enjoyed talking to each and every person who visited our booth and had a great time letting everyone know how Josh Hemphill State Farm can help them."

"We had an amazing time at the Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce Business EXPO 2025 yesterday," stated an e-mail from Junk Galaxy. "Thank you to all the Chamber staff and volunteers who made it happen."

"As far as myself, my team and volunteers who worked the event, as well as remarks from our board and participating boothholders, it went very well," FWKCC president/CEO Julie Blaylock said. "We had 81 booths register and still had a waiting list of businesses hoping to get in last minute.

"We estimate that attendance was on par with last year, averaging 500 or so, but we did notice an increase in attendees who were not Chamber members based on who was in the room, as well as businesses and individuals we had not seen in quite a long time," she added. "Multiple vendors whom we checked on throughout the event shared that they felt their booth traffic was increased from last year, which we're very happy about."

Keys of Hope Luncheon

The YWCA Knoxville & the Tennessee Valley's 15th Annual Keys of Hope Luncheon was held at the Knoxville Convention Center on Thursday, April 24. The event celebrated the organization's daily efforts to eliminate racism, empower women, and promote peace, justice, freedom, and dignity for all.

During the luncheon, updates were shared regarding the renovations of the YWCA's historic 100-year-old downtown building.

Natalie Stair, Interim Chief Executive Officer, shared her thoughts, emphasizing the importance of the YWCA's mission and the bright future ahead.

"The renovation of our historic downtown headquarters into the YWCA Nancy J. Land Center marks a pivotal moment for our organization and the Knoxville community. By expanding the Jenny Boyd Keys of Hope Women's Program, we are not only preserving a cherished landmark but also amplifying our capacity to serve women in need. This transformation will provide safe, supportive housing and essential services to more women, empowering them to rebuild their lives and contribute meaningfully to our community. We are to rebuild their lives and contribute meaningfully to our community. We are deeply grateful to our donors and partners for making this vision a reality."

Renovations are expected to be completed by October 2025, expanding the program to accommodate 20 additional women.

Soccer Ads push Dawgs to OT, pks

BILL HOWARD Correspondent

It was a soccer match between rivals that not even two 10-minute suddendeath overtimes and a five-round penalty kick shootout could decide.

In the sixth shootout round of sudden-death, Bearden's Ahmed Dkhiri talied to put his team up 5-4 in successful conversions.

Farragut then had its chance to tie it, but BHS goalkeeper Logan Nelson blocked away Nathan Henderson's pk shot, ending the match with the SoccerDawgs on top.

The score after regulation was tied 1-1, which was followed by two scoreless 10-minute sudden-death overtimes before the shootout.

BHS head coach Ryan Radcliffe was happy to walk off with the scoreboard advantage, but didn't think his squad played its best.

"A little bit frustrating," he said. "When you score a goal in the first three minutes and then take your foot off the gas; I wasn't very pleased the way we came out in the second half.

"Proud of the effort, but thought we had one too many mental lapses," Radcliffe added.

Despite the final score, TSSAA rules call for a match that ends tied after regulation to be recorded as a tie. Bearden's record after Saturday's District 4-3A match was 13-1-1, 5-0-1 District. Farragut's record became 8-3-3, 2-1-2 in District.

"This is the rivalry game you want," Admirals head coach Bradley Culbreth said. "We came, they came. We made a couple adjustments. There's all kinds of moving pieces to what we do.

"Hats off to them," he added.

It appeared the Bulldogs might run away with the match early, jumping to a 1-0 lead just a bit more than three minutes into the first half. At the 36:44 mark, Preston Ford took a pass from Aidan Ainsworth and scored. Bearden's 1-0 lead held through halftime.

Farragut tied it with 34:04 left in regulation because of a handball penalty called against Bearden.

Franklin Von Hagen converted, tying

With 5:35 left in regulation, Bearden had a potential game-winning kick hit the crossbar.

The match was physical, with bodies regularly hitting the turf — some staying down for several minutes. "That's Bearden/Farragut, that's how it's supposed to be," Radcliffe said.

For the match, the Bulldogs had 11

Hallie Grace perfect, Lady Ads near perfect in romp, claim Dist. 4-4A title

editor@farragutpress.com

When Farragut High School softball is powering on all cylinders, watch out.

A near perfect performance by the Lady Admirals as a whole was, in fact, a perfect game performance by Hallie Grace Johnson, FHS staff ace pitcher as a sophomore.

Johnson, improving overall record to 16-5 (1.678 earned run average) sat down all 15 batters from a talented William Blount line-up in a District 4-4A showdown of the district's top two teams at Farragut's Bellamy Field Monday evening, April 28

With solid production by almost every Lady Ads batter — including the bottom of the order — Nick Green's girls blanked the Lady Govs 10-0 in five innings to win the district crown with a perfect 10-0 mark, improving to 24-9-1 overall. William Blount, the No. 2 seed and host of the district tournament, which begins today (Wednesday, April 30), fell to 8-2, 16-11.

"Lots of thing were working well; my curveball was working well," said Johnson, who struck out three while benefitting from her defense, which included a nice leaping grab in short right-center field from second baseman Taylor Albright in the second inning.

"It was amazing to have that defense behind me," the sophomore added.

"She was doing a good job of spotting her ball," coach Green said of Johnson. "They had a lot of weak contact."

Logan Jameson, freshman leadoff hitter and starting center fielder, connected for three singles and scored two runs. Though walked twice intentionally, star shortstop and Farragut softball set itself up in great shape last week in the District 4-4A race, which ended with a perfect 10-0 regular season record after crushing No. 2 district tourney seed William Blount 10-0 at FHS's Bellamy Field Monday evening, April 28. The Lady Admirals stayed unbeaten in 4-4A after blanking Heritage 5-0 at home Tuesday evening, April 22. Farragut needed only to beat a William Blount team it run-ruled at WBHS earlier this season while holding the Govs to 10 runs or less.

Accomplishing this would allow the Ads to win a District 4-4A tiebreaker versus Bearden and earn the No. 1 tournament seed and home field advantage.

Overcoming a shaky start, allowing four first-inning runs despite having ace pitcher Cole Draper on the mound, Farragut recovered well and earned a share of the regular season 4-4A crown and No. 1 seed with a 9-4 victory at The Ballpark at Farragut Wednesday, April 23.

"We did a good job kind of composing ourselves, settling n and getting back on track said Admirals skipper Garrett Copeland, whose team ended regular season district play at 8-2, 22-7 overall. William Blount dropped to 2-8, 19-16.

Draper, whose record inproved to 4-0, overcame an infield error, two hit batters and a pair of well-stroked RBI singles driving in three of the Govs' four first-inning runs.

After that, the senior ace allowed just two other baserunners in the final six innings – one walk and one single while striking out seven.

"I thought he did a good job settling in and being efficient from the second inning on," Copeland said about Draper. "He got weak contact (in the first inning) and we didn't make two plays that should have been made."

Eleena Ralston, sophomore left fielder, added an RBI single before ending the game in the bottom of the fifth with another RBI single.

Johnson helped her own cause as a pitcher by lacing a double and two singles, contributing one RBI.

Ava Barnes added an RBI single. Brown and Alexa Shrader. a junior, each contributed a single. Dajah Means, Camryn Shrader, Alyssa Rohn and Effy Armstrong each scored runs as courtesy runners.

A second-inning single by Harris scored Braden Humphrey, who connected for a one-out single. Tye then laced an RBI double.

Humphrey, Williams and Harris added singles after the second inning.

LOUDON COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE'S

Young Professionals Lunch with the mayors

tcheek@farragutpress.com

Economic expansions was among the highlighted issues three mayors in Loudon County shared as part of a Loudon County Chamber of Commerce Young Professionals Lunch with the Mayors in Southern Bell Event Center Tuesday, March 25.

Loudon County Mayor Rollen "Buddy" Bradshaw, Lenoir City Mayor Tony Aikens and City of Loudon Mayor Jeff Harris fielded questions during the panel discussion.

"We've got a couple industries looking at Lenoir City that I think people will be glad," Aikens said. "And, of course, it will come with a tax incentive.

"One of them is a business that has looked at Lenoir City many years ago," he said. "It's a big box store, and so that would come with a tax break; and it's up to Lenoir City government (to provide the tax incentive)."

Before litigation Lenoir City and Loudon County are involved in, the tax incentive 5050, Aikens said, explaining a business would pay 50 percent to the county and 50 percent to the city.

"But, we didn't do that at Aubrey's (restaurant) because we felt like we were under the gun and we've got limited resources," he said. "When we raise property taxes in Lenoir City, a penny brings in about $45,000 (to) $50,000, $60,000. I think Loudon County gets $108,000."

Being limited, "we have to look at the other expenses when we start giving tax breaks," Aikens added. "But, I feel like the town needs to grow or it will die ... I hope I will look back and say, 'We've done the right thing then."

"My goal is the same," Harris said about Loudon's development. "I think we will see that common theme: It's for growth. And, Loudon is a little bit different in that we have a lot more industry than we do (other developments)."

Still, "There is certainly a need for housing, which we had expanded that quite a bit," he said. "And with Tennessee National and some of those subdivisions and developments that's come in, there's still some more on the horizon."

Harris said the waterfront is a big development that "we're just having trouble getting moving forward with a lot of obstacles there.

"It's still a goal, still a plan to move forward with it," he said. "We're in some sort of negotiation stuff now with the current developer." Reflecting, "I think growth and just providing the services to your citizens that you want to" are his goals," Harris added.

About recruiting businesses into Loudon, "it's all competitive," he said. "You have to compete with other states, other counties to try to get these organizations to come to you."

For Bradshaw, the emphasis is on being a day trip and tourism destination.

"I think that's what we should be," he said. The county mayor also praised the relationship the county has with the cities of Loudon and Lenoir City.

"I can lean on them, and they know they can lean on me," Bradshaw said.

Looking at businesses in the county, "Viskase has been a steward, an outstanding company for Loudon," he said.
